IS IT AN OUTCOME?

The four tests

1. One deal

It is true or false for a single deal.

2. Start and every end

It says when a deal starts, and every way it can end.

3. A record proves it

We can check it in a record we trust.

4. A standard

It says how good, or how fast, is good enough.

If it fails one test, it is not an outcome yet. Fix it, don't start over.

The plan

Every role traces to contracted work.

Keep · Change · Drop

The plan

Every role has grade, skills, effort, start date and location.

Keep · Change · Drop

The plan

Every skill is on the approved list, or has an open question with a deadline.

Keep · Change · Drop

The plan

Every unclear part of the scope is a question to a named person, with a deadline.

Keep · Change · Drop

Who is free

Availability is confirmed, after existing work and holds.

Keep · Change · Drop

Who is free

Every check of who is free is dated and expires.

Keep · Change · Drop

Who is free

Every held role names a person whose release is answered.

Keep · Change · Drop

Who is free

Clashing holds are spotted and sent to a person.

Keep · Change · Drop

Gaps

Every search is recorded:
who was considered, and why not.

Keep · Change · Drop

Gaps

Every gap carries its evidence and was declared
by a named person.

Keep · Change · Drop

Gaps

Every gap on a signed deal has an owner and a path.

Keep · Change · Drop

Signing

No deal is signed without an approved plan.

WHERE SHOULD CONTRACT-TO-CAPACITY END?

A confirmed gap. Ends when every shortage is confirmed.
Others decide what to do about it.

WHERE SHOULD CONTRACT-TO-CAPACITY END?

A large, bold, red capital letter 'B' is centered on the slide.

An approved plan. As A, and a named person approves the plan. Signing is not checked.

WHERE SHOULD CONTRACT-TO-CAPACITY END?

A controlled commitment. As B, and the deal cannot be signed until the plan is approved.

THE DRAFT OUTCOME · CORRECT IT, DON'T START OVER

Before a deal is signed, every role it needs is held for a named person who is really free, or is a gap that a named person has declared and owns.
